

Thank you to everyone who completed our remote learning survey over half term. Of the 94 responses we had, 93 people said that they were satisfied with the provision we have had in place since January and we were pleased to be able to pass on this recognition to the whole team here at Cheadle Hulme Primary School. Despite this, we know that many families (including those who have provided positive feedback) will have undoubtedly faced many challenges over the past few weeks. We have begun to look into individual responses in more detail and have used these to consider any further enhancements that we could make to the provision for any school or bubble closures that may be required in future.

We would also like to thank you for the brilliant efforts you continue to make at home to support your child's learning and we look forward to seeing you all back at school on 8th March.

e-Safety Event

Yesterday, we hosted an online e-Safety event to share information about the ways you can support your child to use technology responsibly and safely.

We would like to thank everybody who attended the session, but especially Natalie Samuels and Jethro Johnson for leading such an important and useful event for our school community.

If you were unable to attend the session, or would like to revisit the content that was covered, the slides are now available on the Computing page of our school website.

Staffing Update

As our school continues to grow, so do the roles and responsibilities within it. We are delighted to share with you that we have recently appointed Mrs Calthorpe and Mrs Illidge to our School Leadership Team, with the respective responsibilities for Curriculum and Assessment. Many congratulations to each of them and we are very much looking forward to working with them in these new roles to build on our school development plans.

Miss Hepworth has also been successful in applying for a promotion in another Nursery and will be leaving Cheadle Hulme Primary School on 26th March. Although we will be sad to see Miss Hepworth leave, we wish her the very best of success and look forward to hearing how she gets on in her new role.

World Book Day

We are all looking forward to celebrating this brilliant event on Thursday 4th March. Although it will be celebrated slightly differently this year, we cannot wait to see everybody dressed up as a book character when we start our live lessons that day!
