SHOW
RACISM
THE RED
CARD

This Friday we joined schools across the country to support Wear Red Day which is a national event run by the charity Show Racism the Red Card. Whilst we are proud to be supporting this event as a way of standing against all forms of racism and discrimination, we are even more proud to be able to say that this is far from a one-off event for us. More recently, as part of Black History Month, our children have been learning about significant individuals such as Ruby Bridges and Rosa Parks, as well as reading poems by inspirational poets including Joseph Coehlo and Valerie Bloom.

Last year, we began our Rights Respecting Schools journey and further developed our work on the Curriculum Bookshelves upon which much of the children's learning in school is based. Since then, we have used both of these to diversify our curriculum and encourage our pupils to appreciate and celebrate the things that make us all different.

Article 2 – No Discrimination

All children have all these rights, no matter who they are, where they live, what language they speak, what their religion is, what they think, what they look like, if they are a boy or girl, if they have a disability, if they are rich or poor, and no matter who their parents or families are or what their parents or families believe or do. No child should be treated unfairly for any reason.
